Helpful Hints:

- When thinking about a title, consider a “catchy” title that will draw people to your workshop; however, please make sure the title of the presentation matches the content.
- When developing a workshop application, consider what conference attendees will want to learn. Is it a new idea or a different way of presenting information on a previous topic?
- What will make your presentation stand out from others going on at the same time?
- Will your presentation be helpful to others and will they be able to take valuable information home to share with others?
- Will your information be easy to understand?
- If you are a professional, the Committee values the collaboration and involvement of self-advocates, persons in recovery and family members in each workshop presentation.
